NEW LAW BUILDING UNDERWAY

President's Report

Dear Alumni:

This report will in all probability be my last report to you as President of your association. I hereby offer my profound thanks to my fellow officers and directors who have generously donated their presence, support and time over the past two years in the interests of the growth and improvement of the association. Special kudos to Dean Peter McGovern, Assistant Dean Curt Cichowski, Don Huiner and Gail Peshel whose constant and continued efforts over my tenure have reduced my responsibilities to the degree that they have bordered upon the perfunctory.

Considerable strides are being made in the library through computerization. With the advent of the new building next fall and more suitable additional space for the performance of audio-video equipment, the library will house more than 80,000 hardcover volumes and an additional 60,000 volumes in microfilm or microfiche.

This concludes my report and I hereby extend my best wishes to my successor, Barb Young, in her endeavors on behalf of the Association.

Al Zimmermann, President
School of Law Alumni Association

On Friday, April 19, 1985, we hosted a luncheon for the graduating seniors in the Christ College refectory which was well received and well attended considering the fact that finals had already begun. This luncheon was followed by the regular meeting of the Board of Directors.

Chairman Ed Brown of the Nominations Committee submitted a slate of candidates for vacancies on the board which will be circulated to you prior to the fall meeting of the Board and the membership which will be held at Homecoming. The suggested slate of new officers is as follows: Barbara A. Young, President; David McCain, Vice President; Edwin T. Brown, Treasurer; and Richard Eynon, Secretary.

GRADUATION 1985

The Student Loan Fund has been restructured and is administered by the School of Law rather than an independent trustee. As a consequence, third year law students must repay loans prior to graduation thereby obviating any collection problems. In addition, records are being maintained on delinquent borrowers who are in default so that this information is imparted to any Board of Bar Examiners to which the delinquent applies for admission.

We are pleased to report that 110 students will comprise the entering class of 1985-86. This is especially gratifying inasmuch as the applicant pool for new law students has decreased nationally by 20% with little indication of improvement. Our special thanks and congratulations to the Admissions Department.

In that vein, through the efforts of Kathy Wehling, the Admissions Department has created a very informative and attractive videotape explaining Valparaiso's program which is being circulated to pre-law advisers nationwide. This tape was produced by Chris Sloan, a senior undergraduate major in broadcast journalism, who is a student of Kate McGovern, wife of Dean Peter McGovern.

Awarded Grant

The Indiana Bar Foundation has awarded a grant to the Valparaiso University School of Law Library. The IBF, the public service division of the Indiana State Bar Association, annually makes grants to organizations and individuals to support projects that carry out the IBF's purpose of advancing and promoting the administration of justice and understanding of the law. The Law Library staff will use the grant to present a workshop for public librarians which will allow them hands-on experience in the use of legal materials.

Letter from the Dean

Dear Alumni and Friends,

Spring has been a very busy and exciting time around the law school. The American Bar Association visitation team, on the sabbatical reinspection of the law school, visited with the students, faculty, staff, and university personnel from March 27 through 30. An excellent series of lectures was delivered by Neil McCormick, the Seegers lecturer this year. Mr. Dick Duesenberg, chairman of the Board of Visitors for the law school, was our first Distinguished Practitioner in Residence, and we were pleased that he could spend the entire Law Week period with us, visiting classes, lecturing, and addressing the first formal Law Review dinner.

Dick Duesenberg '53

Again this year, the Law Alumni Association sponsored an excellent lunch on April 19, honoring our graduating students and inducting them into the Law Alumni Association. On the 25th of April, during the Indiana Bar convention in Clarksville, the Alumni Association sponsored a very pleasant reception for alumni and friends at the Marriott Hotel in Clarksville. After the reception, I was pleased to be inducted into the Indiana Bar Foundation as a Fellow of the Foundation. I was deeply honored by my election into this dedicated group of men and women who support the work of the Indiana Bar Foundation. The best news of the semester is that on April 27, we celebrated the ground breaking for the new law facility. The event was well attended and all our alumni and friends who were present came back to the law school for a light picnic lunch. It was a day of great celebration and enthusiasm for the future of the law school. On Friday, May 3, Don Huiner, Professor Bruce Berner, and I went to Minneapolis-St. Paul to present a Distinguished Alumni Award to Doug Seltz of St. Paul for his outstanding service to the University. Graduation was on Sunday, May 19. We graduated 108 students. On the 23rd of May, Don Huiner, Professor Charles Gromley, and I had a delightful luncheon with our alumni and friends in the Milwaukee area. (Continued on page 7.)

Recruiting Report

by Katharine E. Wehling

During this year's recruiting season, our recruiting staff visited 70 undergraduate schools in the 9 states of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Arizona and California. The staff also participated in two Law School Admission Council sponsored Recruitment Forums—in Chicago and in Los Angeles. Over 1,200 people attended each of the Forums to discuss career opportunities with law school representatives.

New additions to the recruiting arsenal include: two posters of the School with reply cards, and a video produced for us by senior Journalism major, Chris Sloan, under the tutelage of Dr. Catherine McGovern. The video gives an overview of our geographic area, the University and the School of Law. We encourage all of our applicants to visit the School, but because of distance, many are not able to do so. The video, then, is able to visually introduce the School to applicants who are not able to visit us before applying or matriculating.

The general recruiting season begins in mid-September and runs to early December. Due to this short time-period, we are not able to accept all of the invitations to recruit that we receive each year. If you have an interest in assisting in our recruitment program, we would be pleased to have you represent the School at a college, university or pre-law day in your area. The easiest way for you to participate would be to make phone calls to students from your area who have been accepted for admission. The purpose of the phone calls is to provide our admitted students with some personal contact with the School, to answer questions about the School and to encourage the students to matriculate. Additionally, we would appreciate it if you would notify us of prospective applicants that you may know. We are currently in the process of planning the recruitment program for the Fall of 1985. If you are able to assist in our recruiting effort this fall, please contact Katharine Wehling at the School of Law.

A special thanks to alumni who assisted in recruiting visits this year, including: Terry Boone '85, Eartha Taylor-Boone '85, Andrea Knish '78, Eugene Parker '82 and Susan Schulze-Claussen '79.

Law School News and Notes

One of Professor Stith's articles has just been reprinted in Contemporary Readings in Social and Political Ethics, edited by Brodsky, Troyer, and Vance and published by Prometheus Books. This marks at least the fifteenth time that his scholarly work has been republished—often, as here, as part of an anthology intended for classroom use.

Professor Stith also had a lengthy interview published this year in Spain's Diario de Navarra (Jan. 13, 1985) and an essay published in The Madrid newspaper ABC (Mar. 26, 1985).

Professor Bruce Berner is on the faculty of a two-day institute on Criminal Procedure which will be presented by the Indiana Continuing Legal Education Forum and the Indiana State Bar Association. His topic is Search and Seizure, covering Good Faith Exceptions, New Arrest Rules: Shoot to Kill Cases, What is a Search, and Searches by School Officials.

Professor Berner is also presenting a lecture on Search and Seizure to the Indiana Public Defender Council.

A panel discussion concerning the "Business of Art" was held at the University March 31, during the traveling exhibit of abstract paintings by contemporary artists. Serving as a panelist, Professor Jack Hiller lectured on "The Artist and the Copyright Law."

An article by law librarian Tim Watts entitled "A Bibliography of Arthur J. Goldberg" has been published in the American Association of Law Libraries Law Library Journal 307 (1985).

Sarah Holterhoff, Assistant Law Librarian, has been elected Vice-Chair/Chairperson-Elect of the Government Documents Special Interest Section of American Association of Law Libraries. Her duties will include planning the section's programs for the 1986 meeting in Washington, D.C.

Ivan Bodensteiner, Acting Dean

We are pleased to announce that President Robert Schnabel has appointed Professor Ivan Bodensteiner to serve as Acting Dean of the School of Law.

Ivan Bodensteiner

Following undergraduate preparation at Loras College, the earning of a Juris Doctor degree from the University of Notre Dame, and a successful career in legal services, Dean Bodensteiner joined the law school faculty in 1972. In his early years with the law school, Dean Bodensteiner concentrated primarily on federal court litigation in connection with our clinical program. Currently he teaches in the areas of civil procedure and trial advocacy. He is well known at the national level for his work in legal services organizations.

Dean Bodensteiner participates extensively in Continuing Legal Education programs for Legal Services attorneys. He has been personally involved in civil rights and class action litigation and has prepared briefs for several cases argued before the U.S. Supreme Court. He has also co-authored several reviews of Seventh Circuit civil rights decisions. His many scholarly articles have appeared in law reviews published in New England, Florida, Illinois and Indiana.

As a member of the faculty, Dean Bodensteiner has made significant contributions to the internal activities of the law school, including chairing the committee that developed the law school curriculum, which was commented upon favorably by the American Bar Association. He has also served as a member of the law school Faculty Recruitment Committee, the Special Committee for Evaluation of the Legal Writing Program, and as Advisor to the law school's very successful programs in Client Counseling, Moot Court, and Mock Trial.

Dean Bodensteiner and his wife, Patricia, who is an adjunct member of the University's Social Work Department, are parents of two children, Julie Ann and Jill Renee.

A Law Review banquet, honoring both the outgoing and incoming boards, was held on April 10 at The Gathering Restaurant. Richard Duesenberg, Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary for Monsanto Corporation, spoke on Corporate Governance. Distinguished guests included: President and Mrs. Robert V. Schnabel, President of Valparaiso University; Vice President and Mrs. Richard P. Baepler, Vice President for Academic Affairs, Valparaiso University; Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Duesenberg, Monsanto Corporation; Dean and Mrs. Peter J. McGovern, Dean of the Law School; and Professor and Mrs. David A. Myers, Faculty Advisor of the Valparaiso University Law Review.

The Outstanding Contribution Award was presented to Mary Ann Link, and an Appreciation Award was presented to Mr. Duesenberg in recognition of his continued support to Valparaiso University Law Review.

Finalist for U.S. Attorney Position

Christopher A. Nuechterlein (1976) is one of the three finalists recommended by the Bowen Commission for U.S. Attorney, Northern District of Indiana. Following graduation from law school, Chris practiced law in Goshen, Indiana, and his wife, Claire, (1979) served as attorney for the City of Goshen. Chris is presently an attorney with the U.S. Justice Department in the Land and Natural Resources Division. Chris and Claire reside in Rockville, Maryland.

The Justice Department is in the process of determining which of the three finalists they will recommend to the President. Although no specific date was given for final approval, the term of the present U.S. Attorney expires August 2, 1985.

United Nations Intern

Teresita Khayyat, a third-year student, has been selected as a summer intern for the United Nations. She will be doing research in the Division of General Assembly Affairs. Teresita will assist in the preparation of a supplement to the Repertory of Practice of the United Nations Organs, a publication considered vital to the work of the United Nations.

Ms. Khayyat was born in Cuba during the Revolution and maintains a strong interest in international law and affairs. Her family lives in New York. Her husband, Yazeed, is a graduate of Valparaiso University College of Engineering.

Career Services Report

by Gail Peshel

Once again, alumni participation in Career Services projects has been exceptional. 18 seminars encompassing a wide range of job-related topics were offered this year, largely through alumni support and participation. Another program, Mock Employment Interviews, helped students fine tune their interviewing skills. Alumni within 40 minutes of Valparaiso were contacted, and a number agreed to participate in this mock employment interview program. Aimed at students who wanted to build their confidence in their interviewing skills, the mock interviews consisted of a twenty minute interview followed by a ten minute critique by the attorney. In order to more closely approximate a "real" interview, students traveled to the interviewing attorney's office. Participating students considered this a valuable learning experience, and we really appreciate the help from our alumni who participated.

Over one hundred students joined us at the second annual "Flush Party." This SBA-sponsored event focuses on rejection letters and attempts to put them into perspective and alleviate some of the pangs felt when such letters are received. Entrance was granted upon presentation of one rejection letter. Each letter was then posted for general viewing and entered into competition under categories such as: the most humorous, the most apologetic, the shortest, and the most obviously word processed. Prizes were awarded to category winners.

95.7% of the Class of 1984 was included in our annual survey which indicates an employment rate of 91.2% with one graduate pursuing additional schooling. Valparaiso graduates are also maintaining their strong showing on bar exams. A 100% passage rate was achieved in Connecticut, Florida, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina and Ohio. 88.46% was achieved in Indiana, and 80% was achieved in Illinois and Michigan. Although the majority of the class (54%) opted to go into traditional law practice, an increasing number have chosen other options. For example: 10.1% joined business concerns, 13.6% accepted judicial clerkships, 10.1% joined state and local prosecutor offices, and 7.4% chose governmental positions. A small percentage joined legal services organizations and the JAGC. 45.7% of the graduates have remained in Indiana while 26.6% and 9.6% have moved to Illinois and Michigan respectively. Alaska, Connecticut, Washington, D.C., Florida, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio and Virginia also boast 1984 graduates.

Employment information obtained from members of the Class of 1985 prior to graduation indicated that the class was already 50% employed with an average of 1.6 offers each. Entertainment law with a Los Angeles firm and aeronautics law with an Atlanta firm rank as some of the most diverse positions within the private practice sector. Judicial clerkships include the states of Virginia, Florida, and Illinois, as well as Indiana, and positions with business organizations continue to draw a large number of graduates. Although the majority of graduates have not yet taken a bar exam, 88.46% who took the February Indiana bar passed the exam. These 26 were sworn in June 3rd.

We invite employers to register for the Fall Semester Interview Season. Dates are available from September 16 through November 20. To schedule an interview time, call Gail Peshel at 219/464-5498. The number of letters and calls advising Career Services of known job opportunities have increased over the past year. Not only do we appreciate this information, we need it in order to provide suitable opportunities to students and graduates. Thank you for your support.

New Law Building Underway

The roar of tractors, mounds of dirt, and a large hole in the ground are all signs that construction on the new law building is underway. Members of the VU Board of Directors, faculty, staff, alumni and students of the law school attended a celebration of ground breaking for the $7.5 million facility April 27 on the Heritage Park Campus.

Sverdrup Corp., an architectural, engineering and construction management firm from St. Louis, designed the new building and will manage construction. In addition to the law school facility, plans include the remodeling of Heritage Hall and landscaping.

The new building will provide four classrooms, four seminar rooms, administrative and faculty offices, a multi-use courtroom/classroom, offices for co-curricular activities, and library facilities. The library will have a capacity of over 140,000 volumes and seating for 75% of the law students. Renovation of Heritage Hall will provide offices for student activities and associations.

While construction of the building has begun, $3.3 million of the total project cost of $7.5 million remains to be raised through the Crusade for Valparaiso University. Of the $4.2 million on hand which encouraged the University's Board of Directors to proceed at this time with construction in spite of the additional dollars needed, $1.5 million came from CFVU gifts and pledges, $1.5 million from contributions previously made to the University for an administration center, and the balance of the $4.2 million on hand is coming from other University resources. When the new building is completed, the Board of Directors has authorized the conversion of the vacated structure into a student services and administrative facility.

When completed, the new law school will contrast the older buildings on the Heritage Park Campus, where the University started in 1859. The new building on "old campus" symbolizes the University's dedication to maintaining tradition while also looking to the future.

All in all, the year has been very positive for the school and I want to say thank you very much for your continued support.

In closing, I must say this will be my last letter to you. After much serious reflection, I have decided to accept an offer to become the dean at St. Thomas University School of Law in Miami, Florida. St. Thomas is a brand new law school which has just begun operation, and I have been asked to assist the school in seeking ABA accreditation. I personally want to thank each of you for your fine support of Valparaiso University School of Law and ask that you continue to support this excellent school. Best regards and God bless.
