Rostow To Be 4th Seeegers Lecturer

DEAN'S REPORT

A number of our alumni have assisted us this year by teaching as adjunct professors. Last semester, John F. Hoehner ('74), Scott King ('76), and Andrew P. Rodovich ('73) taught Trial Practice; Karen L. Hughes ('72) taught Family Law; David L Hollenbeck ('74) taught Local Government; and James L. Jorgensen ('74) taught Land Transfer. This spring, we have James L. Jorgensen and Morris Sunkel ('74) teaching Business Associations; Jacqueline A. Leimer ('81) teaching Patent, Trademark & Copyright Law; and Jack Allen ('62), Charles H. Graddick ('74), and Andrew Rodovich teaching Trial Practice. In addition, three alumnae, Marcia Gienapp ('77), Myrna Hart ('75), and Barbara Schmidt ('73) assist us with the clinic program. A member of our Board of Visitors, Julian B. Allen, is teaching Conflicts this semester in place of Professor Stevenson.

The day after Thanksgiving Professor Stevenson suffered a stroke and, as a result, is not able to teach this semester. He has been given an indefinite disability leave pending his recovery. Professor Stevenson returned home early this month following a therapy program at the Rehab Institute of Chicago. His home address is 1901 Burlington Beach Road, Valparaiso, Ind., 46383.

Recently, the faculty approved a limited part-time program, effective in the 1986-87 academic year. Each year in the past we have received a number of inquiries about a part-time program but, with rare exception, have not allowed students to take less than a full load. Under the new program, up to 20 students per year will be allowed to take a reduced course load, with a minimum of five hours required per semester. Under this program, students will have five years, including summer sessions, to complete the requirements for their degree. Part-time students will attend the same classes as the full-time students.

In October, during the meeting of the Indiana State Bar Association, Justice Pivarnik was presented with the Valparaiso University Association's Distinguished Alumni Award. Al Zimmermann arranged a reception, which was funded by The Michie Company, at the Columbia Club. Approximately 60 alumni and friends were able to attend to honor Justice Pivarnik, including the Indiana Supreme Court Justices, judges from the Court of Appeals, and other Indianapolis-based judges.

Immediately prior to the presentation to Justice Pivarnik, a general reception for friends and alumni was held in conjunction with the Indiana Bar Association meeting. This was well attended, as was a similar reception.

At the October meeting, the Board of Directors elected Dave McCain as Vice President; Richard Eynon, Secretary; and Ed Brown, Treasurer. The following individuals were elected by the membership to three-year terms tion in Chicago on Nov. 14, 1985, during the Illinois State Bar Association meeting. We appreciate your attendance at these events, which provide a unique opportunity to maintain contact between the law school and alumni.

The Board of Visitors met in November and decided that meeting to expand its membership. We are in the process of selecting persons to recommend to the president for appointment to the Board.

The Seegers Lectures have been scheduled for March 18-19, 1986, and will be presented by Eugene V. Rostow, the Sterling Professor of Law and Public Affairs Emeritus at Yale, is presently Visiting Professor of Law & Diplomacy at the Institute for National Strategic Studies, Department of Defense. His topic for the Seegers Lectures is "The War Powers Resolution Revisited." All of you are invited and encouraged to attend.

A number of other activities are planned for the spring. We have teams entered in the following competitions: A.B.A. Mock Trial, Client Counseling, Jessup International Moot Court, Association of Trial Lawyers of America's National Student Trial Advocacy, and LSD/ABA's National Appellate Advocacy. Law Week, March 30-April 5 will be highlighted by Law Day Luncheon guest speaker Dan Webb, former U.S. Attorney in the Northern District of Illinois in Chicago. Our Teaching Effectiveness and Scholarship Committee is sponsoring a dinner and keynote address by Dean Neil Gold, University of Windsor, Feb. 20, with informal seminars on Feb. 21.

Construction on the new law building remains generally on schedule and we still anticipate moving in July 1986, in time for the beginning of the 1986-87 academic year. A committee appointed by President Schnabel is working on plans for the dedication, which will probably be held during the spring of 1987. Fund raising for the new building continues and new contributions or pledges are, of course, still welcome.

Last December you would have received a letter soliciting funds as part of the first School of Law Annual Giving Campaign. The response was encouraging, but not overwhelming. We hope contributions are not all in, but I can give a preliminary report. As of Jan. 21, 66 alumni had responded with contributions of around $11,330. We sincerely thank those who did contribute and want to encourage those who have not yet responded to consider a contribution.

The discouraging part of the campaign is the fact that only about 3 percent of our alumni responded to the letter. Although many others have contributed to the law school in response to other solicitations, we need to increase the percentage of alumni contributing in the future if the law school is going to continue to develop and enhance its reputation as one of the fine law schools in the country.

All of you are invited to attend as many of the spring events as your schedules will permit. You are welcome anytime.

This past October marked the 10-year reunion for the Class of 1975. Thanks to the excellent organization, planning and hospitality of John and Linda Peri, and Larry and Pamela Clifford, the Class had a special reunion party at Butch Hundley's, with over 50 people in attendance. We certainly applaud their efforts, and only regret that we were not able to find a facility to accommodate both the Class of 1975 and the Annual Alumni Banquet.

Attendance at the Annual Alumni Dinner at Strongbow's Turkey Inn was also excellent. In addition to good food and good company, the Alumni Association took the opportunity to give special recognition to Professor Louis Bartelt, who was recently honored by being named the recipient of the 1985 Distinguished Teaching Award. Special recognition also went to Professor Charles Gromley, as 1985 marked his 50th anniversary in teaching at Valparaiso University. I am sure all Alumni join me in once again extending our special gratitude to these unique individuals who have contributed so much to the Law School throughout their association with the Law School and the Valparaiso Community.

In the months following our October meeting, the Alumni Association has been active in many areas. With the assistance and sponsorship of the Michie Company, the Association hosted a reception at the Columbia Club in Indianapolis to honor Justice Pivarnik as a recipient of the Valparaiso University Distinguished Alumni Award. An Alumni reception was also held at the mid-year meeting of the Indiana State Bar Association in Indianapolis. A similar reception was held for Alumni members of the Illinois Bar in Chicago. Finally, an Alumni reception was conducted in New Orleans in conjunction with the winter meeting of the American Association of Law Schools.

The Alumni Association sponsored the "Careers in Law" seminar. Special thanks go to those who served as panel members for the seminar:

William Glynn, Callaghan & Company
Bob Kirchheimer, Emalfarb & Swan
Fran Gaseor, Miles Laboratories

We believe that placement is one of the areas in which our Alumni Association can offer special assistance to the student body and administration.

There are several other ways the Association continues to assist students who are currently enrolled. Some of these include providing free coffee during exam periods and our continued support of the Law School Emergency Loan Assistance Fund by our contribution of $500 to the fund. These kinds of Association activities have been well received and strongly supported by both the student body and our Alumni members. I certainly hope that each of you will assist in the continuation of these efforts and similar projects by responding to the annual dues notice promptly. Your financial support is needed.

A new and much-needed project is being undertaken by the Alumni Association this year, in the updating of the Alumni Directory. This update will be available at $7.50 per supplement and will be automatically mailed to all current directory subscribers. New subscribers may obtain the original directory, plus update, by responding to the order information contained elsewhere in this newsletter.

Exciting things are happening at Valparaiso University School of Law and I hope that each of you will have an opportunity to return to campus for a visit. As plans take shape for the move to the new facilities, next year's homecoming will indeed be a very special one. Several classes have already begun planning for reunions, and on a somewhat personal note, plans are underway for the 10-year reunion for the Class of 1976, with William Morris, of Lincoln, Nebraska, as Reunion Chairman.

LAW SCHOOL NEWS AND NOTES

An article on civil liberties, co-authored by Dean Ivan Bodensteiner and Professor Rosalie Levinson was published in 61 Chicago Kent L. Rev. 229 (1985).

Professor Alfred W. Meyer presented a paper at the U.C.C. Institute, sponsored by the Indiana Continuing Legal Education Forum. He also contributed a chapter to the Institute's Practice Manual.

UPDATE ON NEW LAW BUILDING

The roof is on, the windows are in, and the interior walls are in place on the lower and main levels of the new law building. Since the weather has been relatively mild this winter, the contractor has been able to make up some of the time lost during the monsoon rains of November.

The painters have been able to put the first coats of paint on the walls in the lower level (law library) and the main level (library, student areas, and classrooms) of the building. The framework is in place for the interior walls on the upper level of the building which will house the faculty and administrative offices and one floor of the library. All of the brickwork is completed on the building.

The new facility, now scheduled for completion July 1, 1986, is composed of a one-level classroom section with atrium and skylight, and a three-story section that will house the library, faculty and administrative offices, and student locker room, lounge and activities offices. The building will be ready for the beginning of the 1986-87 school year.

Head Librarian and Assistant Professor Mary Persyn addressed the Calumet Chapter of the Indiana Civil Liberties Union, Nov. 13, 1985. Her speech was titled: "Whose Information Is It Anyway? Less Access to Less Government Information."

"The American Sanctuary Movement for Illegal Aliens, 1982-1985," a bibliography by Public Services Librarian Tim J. Watts, will be published in the Public Administration Series. It is due for release in March/April 1986.
State Supreme Court Hears Arguments

The Supreme Court of Indiana heard arguments at the School of Law on October 29.

"Every year they try to pick a case that is interesting or different . . .," said Assistant Dean Curtis Cichowski. This year's argument, Liebner V. Dobson, fits both of these qualifications.

The plaintiff, Iona Liebner, was a passenger in a car driven by the defendant, Barbara Dobson. While on their way to a bingo game, Liebner was injured in an accident, and sued Dobson under the Indiana Guest Statute.

Dobson argued that the bingo outing was a social event and the guest statute was applicable. Liebner asserted that she was a fare-paying passenger and that the purpose of the trip was professional gambling, so the guest statute should not bar recovery.

Pastoral Law Discussed on Campus

An Institute on Pastoral Law, co-sponsored by the School of Law and the V.U. Office of Church Relations, was held on campus in mid-November.

The seminar featured Attorney Sam Ericsson, Executive Director of the Washington-based Christian Legal Society, who spoke on the topic of clergy malpractice lawsuits. Ericsson indicated that there is not a trend toward charging pastors with malpractice. The media has paid great attention to the six cases that have been filed against pastors, but six cases do not make a trend.

Also included in the program was a panel presentation by School of Law faculty members Alfred Meyer, Rosalie Levinson, and Seymour Moskowitz on recent court decisions affecting churches. Associate Dean Bruce Berner addressed the institute on the topic of confidential and privileged information.

John Cleary, General Counsel of Church Mutual Insurance Company, Merrill, Wis., spoke at the concluding session of the Institute on the involvement of insurance companies in suits against pastors.

First Full Time Indiana Magistrate Steps Down

Judge Thomas J. Faulconer, III, a 1948 alumnus of the School of Law, submitted his resignation as United States Magistrate for the Southern District of Indiana, with two years remaining in his appointed term.

In his letter of resignation, Faulconer stated, “I am proud of having taken part in establishing the magistrate system in this district... I feel, however, that having made my contribution, it is time to move on to other challenges...”

Faulconer was the first full time magistrate in Indiana, following a congressional act which created the office of United States Magistrate to replace that of the United States Commissioner. Faulconer was appointed magistrate in 1971, and designated Chief Magistrate in 1973. In 1979, he was appointed to his current term. Faulconer’s resignation becomes effective May 5, 1986.
