The Modern Pentecost

"And there were dwelling at Jerusalem Jews, devout men, out of every nation under heaven.

"Now when this was noised abroad, the multitude came together, and were confounded, because that every man heard them speak in his own language."—Acts II: 5-6.

Jerusalem had every nation under heaven—Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the dwellers in Mesopotamia, and in Judea, and Cappadocia, in Pontus, and Asia, Phrygia, and Pamphylia,

There are dwelling at Valparaiso devout men from half the nations under heavens, and when we gather ourselves together we are astounded, for we hear them speak, every man, in our own language—Irishmen and Englishmen, and the dwellers in Norway and in Sweden, and Spain and Denmark, in the Philippines and Asia, Japan and Corea and China, in Europe and in parts of Russia, and a stranger from Rome, Jews and proselytes, Swiss and Austrians and Germans and Finlanders and Lets and Lithuanians and Polanders and Bohem-customs, American institutions, American push, American invention and American toleration. They comprehend and master these things, and in returning to their native lands to sit as judges, as teachers, as preachers, accomplish much toward overthrowing old dogmas and superstitions, toward making all things new.

Valparaiso university is a congress of the world. Here rich and poor meet on a level, and cheek by jowl they sit at meat. The Porter county boy or girl who drives in from six miles out, and the in Egypt, and in parts of Libya about Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, Jews and proselytes, Cretes and Arabians"—every nation under heaven.

But the heavens covered less than now. According to the enumeration, every nation under heaven amounted to sixteen—not one of which was more than a thousand miles from Jerusalem; not one of which was as large as Texas, and ten of which could have been placed within the borders of California, with room enough left to grow more grapes than ever grew in Canaan.

A Great Pentecost is here.

ians and Bulgarians, and from the islands of the sea—Cyprus and Porto Rico, Cuba and Hawaii, from the Canal Zone and Mexico and Canada and Brazil and Peru, and from Alaska and Arizona, from New Mexico and the District of Columbia, and from every state under the stars and stripes.

Jerusalem had sixteen nations. Valparaiso university has fifty-four. Not only foreign nations, but in addition forty-six states, three territories and the District of Columbia. Though most of these foreigners can speak in several tongues here they all speak English. Here they study American Chinaman from Pekin, each finds the other to be only a common human—neither more nor less. Through the skin into the soul they see, and seeing, understand that humanity is all one brotherhood.

When that day shall have come, when man shall be judged by what he is and not by the coloring in his skin; when the brotherhood of man shall have been established; the sword beaten to the plowshare, the spear to the pruning hook, and universal peace assured, Valparaiso University will have played its part.

A COMPARISON.

The following table tells its own story as to the growth and extended influence of Valparaiso University during the last year.

The lists given below are not perfect, but are semi-official and nearly exact. In other words the list is true but not technical, e. g., no Russians are listed for this year, while 200 Russians were in school. These Russians are all listed, but under various names, as Lithuanians, Poles, Letts, Siberians, Jews, etc.

Thirty-two different peoples were enrolled last year, while fifty-four different countries and provinces are enrolled this year.

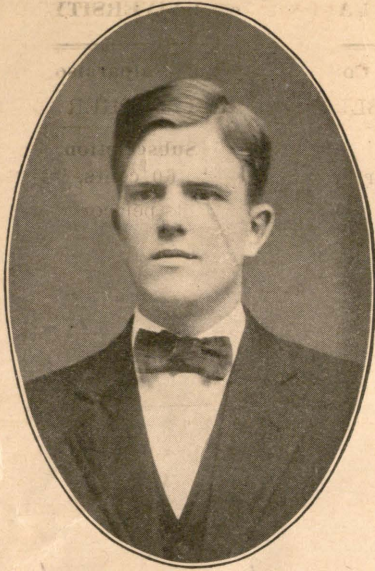

The sum total of foreigners listed last year was one hundred thirty-eight, while this year the total reaches four hundred ten.

The growth and extended influence of the university is evidenced both in the increased number of countries represented and in the increased attendance from those already represented.

- Miss Emma Codray, Prophet.
- Miss Ada Ballard, who was compelled to drop her work in this department on account of the sickness and death of her sister, is again back in school.
- Herbert A. Brown, a Professional and Classic of '08 is again back in school. Mr. Brown goes to North Manchester next year as superintendent of the city schools.

The Latins' Society of Valparaiso University, in session extraordinary, June 10, 1909, unanimously adopted the following memorial:

That whereas two of our most valued members, Senores Carlos Travecier and Jose Diaz, have left the university to practice law in their respective home towns in Porto Rico.

Whereas, by having given their valuable time, counsel and sympathy to the society in critical times, they justly endeared themselves to their fellow members, and

Whereas, their private lives have been exemplary and as students they were hard working and industrious and

Whereas, by their general good qualities and sterling worth they have earned the respect and esteem of all who know them as well as the love and affection of their fellow members; therefore be it

Resolved that the "Sociedad Latina" extend to Senores Travecier and Diaz its heartiest congratulations, and the assurances, not only of its warm regard and deep appreciation of their worth, but also of its feeling of profound regret at the loss from active membership of two such valued brothers; and be it further

Resolved, that these resolutions be entered upon the minute book of the Sociedad Latina and that a cable message apprising them of the action of the society be sent to Senores Travecier and Diaz, and copies of these resolutions be mailed to them and also published in the newspapers of Porto Rico and in the Herald, the college paper of Valparaiso University

LETTER FROM PORTO RICO.

Lares, Porto Rico, June 7, 1909.

Valparaiso University Herald.
 Dear Sirs: Perhaps it will be of some interest to some one to hear from a Valpo boy.

I took the State Board examination, which I passed very satisfactorily. Now I am located in this town which is my native home.

I am doing splendidly. Most of the work here is prescription work. My store is put up in the latest style with all kinds of modern apparatus. There are 22,000 inhabitants in this town and there are only three drug stores, two of which are put up in the Spanish way.

I am sending you two pictures of my store. In one of them I am reading the Valparaiso University Herald, so you see that even in Porto Rico there is some interest for Valpo.

Well, let me tell you something more. I am the father of a baby girl, who is an American and I am a Porto Rican. Mrs. Mendez is still at Park Ridge, Illinois.

Next September I am going to bring Mrs. Mendez and baby to Porto Rico. I will drop for a day or two in Valpo.

Yours truly,
 RAFAEL M. MENDEZ, Ph. G. '07.

See our line of Hammocks in the Basement, all of them will hold two, some will hold more if necessary. Specht, Finney, Skinner Co.

W. H. WOODRUFF.

On Thursday of last week W. H. Woodruff assisted by Dan Kelly, C. E. Soward, Gus Lienhardt, J. F. Johnson and Frank Mauk defended a student who had been arrested on a charge in another state and placed in jail here.

They applied for a writ of habeas corpus and secured his release at a hearing before the circuit judge. Not so bad for a start, eh?

VALPARAISO'S LOYAL SONS.

Air: "Auld Lang Syne."
 S. A. Hoffman, B. S. '10.

Oh! come all Valpo's loyal sons,
 And swell our joyous song,
 Come singing Valpo's righteous praise
 With voices loud and strong.
 Oh! come all Valpo's loyal sons,
 The boys of brawn and brain,
 Who strive for Valpo, one and all
 With courage, might and main.

Oh! Valpo, we will do our best
 Each true and loving son,
 To keep unsullied evermore
 The laurels you have won.
 May our ambitions ever be
 To crown your future fame,
 With valiant strife and victory
 And honor to your name.

Dear Valpo; those who've left your halls,
 They sing your praises, too;
 For dearest thoughts and memories
 Are ever linked with you.
 Dear Valpo, they will turn again
 In all their future joys,
 To sing a song of happy days
 When they were Valpo boys.

Oh! come all Valpo's loyal sons,
 Be head of all renown,
 And in the march of mind and might,
 Wave first the gold and brown.
 Oh! sing, all Valpo's loyal sons,
 Forever tried and true,
 Dear Valpo, in our hope and love
 This song we raise to you.

Guy Williams writes this week from Waupaca, Wis., for sample copy of Herald.

Seet and Loucks, LL. B. '08, are at Bicknell, Ind. Their card says, "Attorneys at Law," also says "Real Estate and Insurance." Loucks was in Valpo a few days lately. Since graduating here he spent several montas in Europe.

L. Sigler, of Judith Gap, Mont., writes this week for sample copies.

Simon Najjar, student '06, is at New York University, University Heights, New York City.

H. E. Davis, 109 West Day Street, Denison, Tex., writes for sample copy this week.

George Lloyd, Prep. '08, will spend the summer in South Dakota visiting relatives and will be at the Fair in Seattle during the fall.

Edna and Eugene Putnam are spending the summer at their home in Whiting, Ind.

Charles Ouradnik, Com. '09, has joined the teaching force in North Dakota. In a letter he says, "Feel as well as ever and although I like the climate in North Dakota, I hope some day to get back to Valpo." His address is Grelland, North Dakota.

The Poughkeepsie Courier, of February 14th, says of Mr. Butler's Vassar College Recital:

"Mr. Butler's voice possesses an unusually dramatic quality to which the selections upon his program were very well adapted. Especially characteristic of his singing was a certain easiness which is seldom found in so large a voice.

"Then it is rather unusual to find such versatility as one found in his temperament. The songs he sang varied in character from the 'Le Caid' Magnificent stirring Drum Major air to tender jaunty little lyrics. Especially appreciated was his rendition of 'Danny Deever,' which thrilled his audience and will remain long in the memory of those who heard him."

Mr. Butler will sing the Drum Major air at the concert with Mrs. Butler, in the College Auditorium next Thursday evening.

AN INTERESTING LETTER.

(Written some months ago. Lost in the editorial sanctum. Lately found.—Editor.)

Dear Bennett: In reply to your favor will say that the Herald arrives each Monday at 3:30 p. m. and is received with open arms.

L. E. Mifflin, LL. B., '08, has gone to the land of "cutters and streaked gravy." That is one way to tell it. To make a short story long, he has formed a partnership with Tom D. Patton, a county judge of Danville, Arkansas.

Many thanks for Miss Baldwin's picture. I clipped and pasted it in my rhetoric tablet. I did not need it to "refresh my recollection" but—"lest we forget."

Did I say "Lest we forget?" "Well, I must a bin a dreamin'." No one who has taken Miss Baldwin's English ever can forget. Every day brings reminders; a redundant word; a prepositional phrase misplaced; a violation of unity or precision; in short, a thousand and one things which bring to mind Miss Baldwin's eternal warnings. "Whether or not" is used in court and in the decisions. Behind the expression you may find Miss Baldwin's reproving eye. Forget her? Ye gods, give me life, health and liberty until the beams of that day's sun shall awaken me to the knowledge that Miss Baldwin's impress of character has been relegated to the land where oblivion broods and memory forgets.

With best wishes for you and yours, I remain,
Yours truly,

W. W. BARTON.

FOR-GET-ME-NOTS.

The most artistic invention gotten out on the Hill this year is a souvenir of the Hill entitled "Forget-Me-Nots."

It is the work of two students who are putting it on sale for "pin money."

It is probably the only souvenir of the Hill which is of universal interest.

It is easy to get out a book with something for each and every class.

It is not hard to get out a souvenir in which everything is of interest to the particular class for which it was meant, but to get out a thing so beautiful as "Forget-Me-Nots," in which every page is of special interest to every class, is no small task.

Drop in at the College Pharmacy and see for yourself. It won't cost you anything to look at it and it won't cost you much if you buy one.
